the project school holiday gift drive!

The Project School in Bloomington, a K-8 chartered public school, has many families who struggle during the holiday season & all year long. 30%+ of the student body experiences poverty.

Each holiday season the school puts together much-needed care packages for these children & their families. The commitment is that for each child there will be...

something to wear - something to read something they want - something they need

The Project School would be so grateful for any-size monetary contributions or any-size Target, Amazon or Kroger cards ($100 will sponsor a child's entire package)

Any remaining funds after holiday packages have been created will be transferred to grocery gift cards for families
